*Educational Language:

The instruction language at Medipol is Turkish. However; School of Engineering and Natural Sciences, School of Dentistry (English), School of Business and Management Sciences: Management, Economics and Finance and International Trade and Finance, School of Humanities and Social Sciences: Psychology and Political Science and International Relations, School of Fine Arts Design and Architecture: Architecture, and lastly International School of Medicine are instructed in English. In the Schools of Dentistry, Medicine and Law 30% of the courses are instructed in English whereas 70% of the courses are instructed in Turkish. Thus, English Preparatory Program is determined as compulsory.

Except for the programs instructed in totally English; the candidates who have been accepted to other programs have to attend Turkish Proficiency Exam which will be held by Istanbul Medipol University or provide exemption conditions determined by Senate. Besides all these, those who have studied their secondary education (last 3 years) according to Ministry of Education in Turkey, acquired B2 Level in YÖS Exam or C1 (The Highest Level) in TÖMER will be regarded as exempted from Turkish Proficiency Exam.

(The class only will be open if the University reach 10 students who cannot provide the conditions as noted above)

Those who want to study in the programs in which preparatory program is compulsory have to attend English Proficiency Exam or provide enough score in any International Language Testing. Students who have failed have to study one year preparatory program. If they succeed, then they can be regarded as exempted from the preparatory program.

Financial Guarantee:

The applicants who are admitted to our University have to prove that they have financial guarantee for the tuition fee to be paid to the University and for maintaining their lives in Turkey during their education period.
